Mayor at Philadelphia Lambastes the Present Plan of Control.

MERRIAM BACKS HIM.

IBy a Staff Correspondent.] Philadelphia, Pa., Nov. 18,-[Special.]-Mayor Harrison and Ald. Charles E. Merdem of Chicago contributed the peppe of today's program of the " mayor's --farence " on public utilities.

The mayor of Chicago lit into the utility corporations with both fists. Other speakers, almost without exception, used padificatory tone in discussing the control of rates and service, but Mr. Harrison minced no words.

He told of the days of "rough stuff and "raw work" when an alderman tiled to deny a charge he would steal a hot stove, and when the late Charles T. Terkes called legislature leaders to him in an antercom. He indicated his belief that the morals of the companies have not hanged materially since that day.

Merriam Assails Legislature. Ald. Merriam sailed into the legislature for robbing Chicago of home rule. He anded the passage of the public utilities act as an act of piracy. Then he devoted himself to a compact argument for municipal control of public utilities, " home rule," as it is called in Chicago. Mayor Harrison went him one better on this score. In fact, he led the entire program of speakers in his open declaration for public ownership of public utilities. in this he was joined by other speakers from different sections of the country.

The avowed absence of any prearrang ent of declarations on this subject mad he repeated mention of public ownership s the ideal solution of the utilities probism the chief topic of discussion among the delegates at the close of the day.

Public Ownership Favored. So nearly unanimous were the speakers come of the struggle between the people and the corporations that those prophetically inclined ventured asser-tions that conservative phases of the L ncreasing number of American munici-palties, and this year. The subject of the three sessions today were " Practical Utility Problems," " The Regulations of Utilities," and "Local State Regulation of Municipal Utilities," but almost every one of the speakers overlooked the fact that the subject, " Municipal Ownership and Operation," was not on the program until tomorrow morning. Those that did not mention it were the authors of scientific papers that to the tverage reader would be known as " dry."

All who cut loose from engineering details took at least one shot at private ownership as incapable of approaching ideal Goes Back to "Slavery" Days. "The length to which public utilities are willing to go for the sake of profits," Mayor Harrison said in discussing the "old days," " was seen in the days when they were masters and the people were slaves. In the mad chase they overreached themselves.

"Even an American public with all its indifference, with all its monumental patience, with all its proverbial long suffering, finally rose in its might and seserted itself as master. "While the utilities have tempered

POLAND IN THE WAR.

Unhappy is the fate of marginal nations and buffer states in this day of international conflict. Belgium, the least concerned, logically, of all the combatants, is much the worst sufferer, and the days of her misery are not yet told. To be invaded and trampled and laid waste in your own quarrel is bad enough. To suffer that fate in a quarrel which is none of yours is the extreme of ironic tragedy, the climax of fate's mad illogic.

This is Belgium's case, and the pity of the world goes out to her. But there is another Belgium. There is another people crushed between the millstones of the huge alliances at war. Poland is the battle ground of the eastern war, and suffers the marching armies whether victory rests upon one banner or the other. Poland in Germany, Poland in Russia. Poland in Austria, all are on the rack of war, for no cause of real Polish concern and consent of the Polish people. Study the map on page 3 and you will have a graphic prophecy of what Poland is to undergo while the giant

RED TROUSERS AGAIN.

When some war correspondent is not too gaged with the tactics of battle and the main events of war, we wish he'd ascertain and report what lies back of the determination of the French to send their troops into action in red trousers. It has been recorded that when aeroplane scouting is has been recorded that when aeroplane scouting is undertaken by the Germans, the French lines are though our laws maintained true and the courts the self in red frequently when the German lines are supposed to enforce the law.

In the latter respect this is a fiction, although our laws maintained true and the courts the self in red frequently when the German lines are supposed to enforce the law. are not distinguishable.

What compensation are the French obtaining for suggested, for the sake of morale that they define cannot be a matter stupidly neglected.

A French agent is reported to be in Chicago asking for bids for a contract to supply 40,000 red trousers. This revives the question.

A MORALS COMMISSION.

Traditional police methods of handling "vice" and other less sensational problems of civic health efforts at improving them are discouraging. Sporadic criticism, exposures, and primitive measures help a little, but do not get us forward. Something more constructive is needed, and the something constructive proposed in Chicago is a morals commission.

THE TRIBUNE is reluctant to indorse any addi tion to the list of these bodies, which on the whole pan out surprisingly little in the way of practical results. As substitutes for action, as excuses for delay, as means of evading responsibility they are time tried and approved. But as aids to efficient government and reform they fall far short of their

Nevertheless, in the case of the morals commission, a proposal of another temporary commission, the vice commission which made the important survey and report of 1911-12, the need is plain. If such a body is made up of the right material it should be able to establish better methods of much solicitude. handling social problems, brace up the police by effective criticism, and achieve substantial results.

LEARN SPANISH.

For the first time in the history of the Berlitz School of Languages in Chicago Spanish has passed French. That is, there are more pupils studying the former than the latter, hitherto always the favorite

More women take French. More men take

These facts are significant and welcome. It is not that we should know less French, but more Spanish. Spanish is the tongue of our nearest neighbors, not English, and of the countries where for business and political reasons equally we seek to better our relations. Intercourse is virtually impossible, is at least very seriously restricted, in the absence of a mutual knowledge of our languages, and the spread of a knowledge of Spanish especially among the younger generation of Americans would do more to make possible the closer relations we seek with our Latin-American neighbors than any other single factor.

The ignorance among Americans of foreign languages is natural but deplorable. If we were ned in like the Dutch we might be polyglot as they are. But we have been isolated and selfcentered. We have been interested exclusively n ourselves and there has been no pressing practical need or temptation to learn other tongues.

We ought by more deliberate purpose to correct this defect in our education. German and French already are taught in the public school. It is to be a demand, for Spanish will grow. WILSON AND THE NEGROES.

President Wilson would have spared himself the nnoyance of a loss of equanimity if he had refused to hear the delegation which wished to pro against the segregation of negro employes of the replied to the request for an audience that the mat ter was one of department and bureau adm in which he did not intend to interfere. Then the department heads would have had to do the stuttering and it would have been less important.

By giving his opinions officially, even if not pub licly, Mr. Wilson put the head of the government in the position of denying the principles of the government and his situation was awkward and

The negro question in the north of the United States generally is answered by a compromise between prejudice and an idealistic conception of pure right. In the south it is answered in any practical fashion that may be adopted by the whites. In both sections the situation is happiest when it is Abstractly considered it is an impossible situa tion, but it has a knack of finding adjustments. Whites and blacks manage to get along together in spite of every reason why they should not get along. Sometimes it almost seems that deferring a definite plan of adjustment is only deferring and magnifying the ultimate evil, but experience reveals that the question, unagitated, has a way of working itself out.

President Wilson came very nearly establishing national program of treatment to be given the negro when he defended segregation. If that step is to be taken it certainly is a serious one and Mr Wilson would be in better position if he were representing national rather than sectional sentiments

It may be admitted that segregation satisfies the prejudices and meets the practical ideas of a great majority of whites, north and south. The difficulty is that it does not meet the approval of at least the northern conscience. The ideal of equality arms wrestle from the Baltic to the Carpathians. in citizenship persists as one of the cherished ideals When the war shall have roared back and forth of American citizens and when a citizen, at least a northerner, finds that it has become inconvenient

> Therefore theoretically he is always gra. ing the negro full rights and practically he always is denytion is not raised at all, when whites and blacks reserve, by consideration of undoubted prejudices, by the simple process of slipping along somehow.

In a fashion the question is more aggravated in the north than in the south. In the south the rule of white dominance is established and maintained without question. The north accepts the south's julgment as to its own necessities. In the north there is at least a theoretical concession that the negro is fully established in all political and social rights. In the latter respect this is a fiction, al-

WHERE YOUTH IS CONQUEROR [From the Memphis Commercial-Appeal.]

There is every reason to believe that the struggle which is now devastating Europe will be long continued, even to the length of practical extermination. There are numerous indications

Not in generations has the youth of France Germany, and England been regarded with so

A still more significant evidence of this valu of youth is that every enlisted volunteer, not attached to the regular army, is urged to marry to make the honeymoon as pleasant as possible Some such marriages may result in the birth of youngsters to eventually take their places in the line, after this war is ended and another Europe has been established.

Another indication of the length of the war i expressed in the decision of France to place the school boys in military training. They are still mere youths, but they grow with passing years, and if trained while in school they will not have to sacrifice additional time in equipping them-in France under military guidance. The ministe of public instruction is to cooperate with th minister of war, and from the ranks of youth France expects to rebuild her army after peace has been restored. Even in Russia, with its puted capacity for huge mobilization, something similar is in progress. For the first time in many generations the exemption from service in the field which has been accorded by the imperial government to all students of the universities, and even in secondary schools, has been withheld, and this class of young men has been put into training for anticipated work in the field. Heretofore the Russian university atudent has not been regarded by his government as the safe custodian of a musket. His revolutionary tendencies, fancied or real, have served eral, who said, "Don't count the enemy; to free him from the burden of military service. All of this has been changed and it proves.

"This brings us to the second of the requirements for the development of character. That is independence, free decision, and personal responsibility within our sphere of life. We Germans are accustomed to complain of overgovernment, of the hindrance which bureaucracy offers to free development, and certainly in so far with justice as there is inherent in for her. bureaucracy a tendency to elevate a single central point to full independence, to make everything else depend upon it, and to regard all authority as derived from this point. But bureaucracy would never have attained to such power among our people if it did not correspond to an inborn inclination, if there did not exist in us a desire to regulate and mechanically to There were no children born after the systematize life, to exercise a police authority over others, and obstinately to force others, too, to accept our own mode of thought."

The Marcons will invade the stronghold of the Illini today with a stronger chance than they have allowed themselves to expect all week. Gray and Flood will take part in the game. Coach Stags promised last night that the two backfield stars would be able to plavathough neither will be able to stand the strain of the season's hardest game for a long time according to the flouring of the Midway coach. Berger and Schafer will start at the hairback places. Acker probably will enter the game at full, although there is a strong possibility of an eleventh hour switch that will send Flood into the place.

The last session of the Marcons yesterday was one calculated to send off the men in a grim fighting spliti. Coach Stagg lectured the players of the regular squad at a two hour session inside the training quarters, and every one but a candidate for the first varsity football team was requested to steer clear of the room in the stands.

John Albert was on the field with his teammates, but did not appear in football uniform.

"big fellow" will make the trip with the time, but will be unable to get into the game. Nineteen hundred Marcon fans, recruited from the student body, and the ranks of entural stock and the stander that the trip, will make the trip with the team. Two sections of the University of Chicago special will leave over the Illinois Contral from the Woodlawn station at 9:20 o'clock this morning. The team will leave on the first. Twenty members of the freshman football eleven will be taken with the regulars. The first year team will disband after the practice sessions next week. The players will arrive in Champsign about 12:30 o'clock and will leave at once for Illini field. The rooters' trains will disband after the practice sessions next week. Notre Dame students who started a 102 mile hike from South Bend to see the Notre Dame-Carlisle Indian game this afternoon, arrived yesterday, cheerful and happy that Chicago was no farther away. The quartet-Russell Downey, Fort Wayne, Ind.: Edward Marcus, Lafayette, Ind.; Gerald Clements, Owensboro, Ky.; and Wilmer Finch, Terre Haute, Ind arrived at the White Sox ball park, where they presented a letter from Coach Jesse Harper of Notre Dame to Secretary Harry Grabiner of the White Sox. The letter was as follows:

"These boys lost their money on the Yale game and therefore are not in a financial position to pay their way to Chicago to see the Notre Dame-Carlisle Indian game. Would you kindly fix have shown the real college spirit and no doubt deserve to be rewarded."

Today is championship day in both the Chicago and Suburban High School Football leagues. Two titles, one in each of the major and minor sections, will go to the victors, but in the Chicago league Englewood must beat Wendell Phillips to win the major honors. Oak Park and University High battle for the heavyweight grown in the Suburban league and Morgan Park and Oak Park clash in the minor section of the same organization.

Because of its rapid development in the last month and its ability to combine speed with its crushing weight, Englewood rules the favorite for the honors in its battle with Wendell Phillips at Stagg field this morning. Englewood will present one of the heaviest teams that has played on a high school gridfron in these parts in several years. According to Coach Barradell's figures Englewood will weigh 165 5-11 pounds, equal to the weight of the average college team. The line tip the scales at 165 pounds. Against this bulk will be a team averaging 155 6-11 pounds, over twelve poundage.

When the above rivals conclude their scrap, the field will be placed in shape for the Oak Park-University High Suburban scrap. Because of the recent showing of both elevens there will be little to choose between the two teams. During the game at Urbana will be given, play by play.

Hyde Park and Lake View are back in the Chicago High School league, but they must befrave if they wish to remain there. This action was taken yesterday at the special meeting of the Chicago high school heard of control. selves to follow the constitution before they will be permitted to play in any sport under the school name.

Principal Morre of Harrison, representing the principal association, explained the action taken by his associates at their recent two days' session. He pointed out that there was an unsettied opinion on the interpretation of "coaching" and there is a possibility that the constitution on this point will be shanged. Recommendations to be sent to the principals association probably will make the new rule read as follows:

"The direction and coaching of any team representing a member of this league shall be vested in members of the faculty chosen by the principal of the school concerned and such assistants as shall be sunctioned by the direction of the principal."

Led by Head Coach Glenn Warner, on twenty-eight Carlisle Indian warriers in-vaded the home of their forefathers yes-terday to give battle to Notre Dame today at the White Sox ball park. Because of ts late arrival Coach Warner did not send the eleven through practice, but contented himself by giving the players a long lecture on the rules and the plans he had evolved to stop Notre Dame's of-

"My team is in the best of shape," That McFarland was in a receptive warner said. "Although it is not as mood was indicated when he discussed Welsch at Quarter Back.

"Although few persons know, my team will be strengthened by the addition of Quarter Pack Welsch, captain of last fear's eleven. Through a misunderstanding with the authorities. Welsch has refused to come out to practice all season. After several players had impressed on him the importance of this game he consented to be a candidate for the team. Although he has had only four days of practice, I look for him to be one of the ciding factors in today's battle."

The Indians will remain at their hotel the hotel in taxicabs. The Notre Dame and will be quartered at the Auditorium hotel. Says Harvard Is Leader. When asked about the strength of the eams in the east Coach Warner had the lowing to say:

"Harvard undoubtedly is one of the strongest elevers devidoped in Cambridge in the last decade. This reason the Crimson eleven is so strong is by cause of an established coaching system. Yale and Princeton have the men, but those who are coaching these elevens have not had the necessary experience to turn out championship elevens.

"Percy Haughton at Harvard is a veteran. His style of: coaching has been in vogue for years at Cambridge and this is the reason why he is successful. Although he has candidates to "burn" he gets the best results possible

Today's game will be called at 2:15 o'clock and the gates will be opened at noon. Following is the official line up and weights of the teams:

LOEWE BOWLS AT 240 CLIP FOR NEW SEASON RECORD.

Dick Loewe, whiner of the Illino's Bowling association medal; for high series in the state last season, made a bid for the same trophy to the season's record of association, made a bid for the same trophy this year by setting a new season's record of 239 2-3 for the lidelweiss in the Northwest league last night. His score raises the former mark set by Joe Handek last week by two pins. Leewe led the Filelweiss to a 1,021 average that also was a league record and gave the Brewers a double victory over the Sir Cliftons. Hank Poggenses. "Finky" Schreiber, Frank Grebe, and Charley Scheffner all shot big 200 series in the contest.

Mineralites went into the lead of the Randolph league when they won a triple decision over the Ursus, while the Hamilton Rackers, who were tied with them before the series, lost two games to the Haward Majors.

Another feature of the night was a 1,065 count by the J. M. Smiths in the Mathis league, a precord for the new circuit.

The Master Key

A Great Moving Picture Triumph by the Universal

One thing about the MASTER KEY that will impress you tremendously is its vivid realism. You who have seen the TREY O' HEARTS were impressed with the realism in that great serial, yet in the TREY O' HEARTS we only began to be realistic. In the MASTER KEY we arrive. Moving picture experts declare it to be the most perfectly constructed picture they have ever seen, and by experts we mean not only professional critics but producers as well.

THE MASTER KEY will also impress you with its rugged American color, and the great strength of heart, soul and body of the American men who are its chief actors. Every scene is powerful, swift in action, and appeals to every instinct and emotion of the modern mind. You will find yourself breathless with attention, thrilled to the very core and eager to see right and justice triumph.

John Fleming Wilson, who wrote THE MASTER KEY, threw his whole soul into the romance. You can see it and feel it in the picture. Evidently he has lived with just such strong characters as invest his tale of the gold country. So don't forget to read the story which will be published in daily installments in the Chicago Daily News. Ask your favorite Moving Picture Theater whether it has made arrangements to run this powerful story. Read the DAILY NEWS Every Day and See the Pictures at Night!

JOSEPH C. LINCOLN'S GREATEST NOVEL

KENT KNOWLES:

"Quahaug" By JOSEPH C. LINCOLN

Author of "Cap'n Dan's Daughter," "Mr. Pratt's Patients," etc.

A big, breezy, wholesome and amusing story that will make you forget the war. If you have ever read any of Mr. Lincoln's novels you will need no urging to read his latest. If not, this is a good time to begin, for he has never written a better one. Kent Knowles is a writer of adventure who leads a secluded bachelor life in Bayport, Cape Cod. The villagers call him "quahaug" or clam. His vein of fancy having become exhausted, he goes abroad in search of new ideas with his cousin Hephzibah, a typical New England spinster. In England unexpected complications arise and in the end the "quahaug" brings home a wife. In the telling of this charming romance many humorous contrasts are drawn between English and American manners and customs

And So They Were Married

A Comedy of the New Woman By JESSE LYNCH WILLIAMS

THE NEW YORK TRIBUNE:

"An immense amount of cleverness has gone to the writing of Mr. Williams's comedy. Its dialogue sparkles and has point; its situations are ingeniously contrived. . . . It furnishes capital reading." THE NEW YORK WORLD:

"The most agreeable and wholesome of recent written offerings on the marriage problem."

THE PHILADELPHIA RECORD. "Mr. Williams has a trenchant style and he has a definite purpose which he seems definitely to have achieved."

It was much at the instigation of the late King Edward of England that Mr. Stanhope was induced to write this book. His experiences as a special correspond-ent have brought him in contact with the "great" as well as the "rich." Mr. tanhope had not been in this country very long before he met Mr. James Gordon Bennett, who appointed him special correspondent in London to the New York Herald. Oakey Hall was the manager of the London office at that time.

Mr. Stanhope was in Greece at the time of the marriage of the Duke of Sparta, now King Constantine, to Princess Sophie of Hohenzollern, the sister of the kaiser who had then only just ascended the hrone upon the death of his father.

Athens he describes "as little more than a village and the arrival of a host of royalties caused the ever volatile Athenians the greatest excitement. First of rthe country has ever had to fight, and all came the winsome little bride, with her mother, the Empress Frederick. Then our savings to pay for that war. excellent glass of wine to wash the sal water out of your throat." The czarevitch consented, and they set off to a mean little drinking booth, kept by an aged and retired sailor, whom the princes knew. There they ordered tumblers of the coarse resinata wine of the country. If any of you have ever tried resinata you will know that it is a white wine cured with resin and tastes just as though turpentine had been noured into it. No wonder, therefore, that, having without previous tasting swallowed half a tumbler of the mixture, the czarevitch, to the intense amusement of his cousin tried to get rid of it in every way possible that genius is a miracle and lets it go at that. Well, a miracle it may be, but what is the essence of the miracle? The world attempt to answer it.

The latest attempt that challenges attention is that of Dr. Heinrich Türk entitled "The Man of Genius." (A. & C.

becomes wonderfully clear if you read "Hamlet" in the light of the new theory. Faust, too, and Byron's Manfred are called to the stand to testify to the sound ness of the new theory of genius.

And what is it? This, that "genius is love." Genius is high objectivity, disinterestedness, the forgetting of self, the complete absorption of the author, the poet, the musician, the scientist, the statesman, the orator, in his subject, theme, or work. Nay, more. The genius does not know that he is so objective and engrossed and oblivious of self. He is un-conscious of his virtues, does not even account them virtues; he is merely him-self; he is simple and single minded by nature; he cannot understand any other attitude toward things. He loses himself and finds himself—in other men or in the things he makes his own. Finally—and this is a third essential trait—the genius looks for beauty, not ugliness; good, not evil; merit, not defect, for he knows that the essence of anything lies in its best rather than in its worst sides, in its strength rather than in its weakness.

There is much in the theory—and in the work—that is abtractive and ingenious. But it cannot be said that the author has carried us very far toward the solution of the problem of genius. His definitions would hardly cover certain personalities whom the world regards as geniuses— Carlyle, for example, or Napoleon. It is easy to say that this or that man is not a genius because he does not look for the best things in his fellows or in their works but that begs the question. Again the Hamlet mystery remains as mysterious as ever in spite of the discovery that the prince was a genius and an idealist whom deprayity and moral ugliness shocked and unsettled. If the situation was to and unsettied. If the situation was too terrible even for a genius, then what help do we get from the theory? If Hamlet was not enough of a genius to cope with evil and treachery and to allow for human weakness and brutality and lust, then the explanation of his "double failure" is really his lack of genius.

No doubt objectivity and love and un selfish interest in a subject will generally be found in genius, but to say that genius is love is to commit a mistake akin to that of those who say that humor is truth There is truth in humor, but humor is not truth. There is love and self-effaceme in genius, but genius is something mor

These remarkable motion pictures were taken by Edwin F. Weigle, Staff Photographer of The Chicago Tribune, who has just returned from Europe. They bring to you, in all the action of actual battle, the terrible scenes which were enacted in Belgium during September and October. They show the blowing up of buildings, the patriotic soldiers fighting from trenches, the operations of machine guns, artillery, armored motor cars—ALL THE THRILLS OF GENUINE WARFARE.

Beginning TODAY, these motion pictures will be shown at the STUDEBAKER THEA-TRE daily from 11 A. M. to 11 P. M. Mr. Edwin F. Weigle will appear in person at each performance to tell of his experiences. This is your opportunity to see the War as it really occured and to hear from the lips of an eye-witness the truth of the European War. tures, The Chicago Tribune has again demonstrated its enterprise. These are positively the FIRST and ONLY authentic motion pictures of ACTUAL FIGHTING on the Belgian Battlefields. Because of the Tribune's exclusive arrangement with the Belgian Government, these are the only genuine motion pictures taken in Belgium. The Belgian Red Cross receives 50% of the proceeds from these pictures. READ THIS:

"I believe that if some such plan like at of THE TRIBUNE is not carried out, pareds of little children in the Euroan war zone will suffer-and perhaps from hunger, lack of care, and the old of the coming winter."

Circuit Judge Merritt W. Pinckney d just left the bench of the Juvenile art, over which he has presided for years. All morning he had been ing with the problems of children, as he had dealt with thousands of m since 1908. A petition for the ption of a child may be filed in any rult court, but all the other circuit ges transfer such cases to Judge kney's docket, so that his is in every way the court of the children.

Some Orphans Needed at Home "We all agree," he went on, "that s far as possible the children made tatherless and homeless by the war should be kept at home to help build up their respective fatherlands. To a large ertent they hold the future in their lands.

"But in Belgium already-and as the war continues it will be increasingly true in other lands-it will not be possihe to give proper care and proper rearing to many of the little ones. They will lese both parents, their homes and property will be destroyed, their surviving clative will be overburdened, even the provide accommodations for their care.

The great points about the Putnam Dry Cleaning It is Harmless
The most delicate fabrics, that would be ruined by washing with soap and water, cannot be injured in any way. The finest laces, net or embroidery, are perfectly as fe from harm.

It is Effective
All dirt—the most tenaclous—can be thoroughly removed.
Dry cleaning amounts to renovation—adds a lustre to fura, silks and ribbons.

Is Simple
Just rubbing or brushing and rinsing, and it's done. Dries out quickly, and the article can be hung up or worn very soon afterwards. Furs and woolens after dry-cleaning can be safely put away free from worry over moths.

investments are accordingly not eligible for rediscount.

In order to be eligible for rediscount bilis must "arise out of actual commercial transactions," and "the proceeds must have been used or they are to be used for agricultural, industrial, or commercial purposes."

In like manner "notes, drafts, and bilis of exchange secured by staple agricultural products, or other goods, wares, or merchandise," are eligible for rediscount provided they arise out of "actual commercial transactions" covering some particular stage in the process of production and distribution.

They are not eligible when drawn to cover merely speculative investments.

Guaranty of Notes.

Whenever a member bank shall offer for rediscount any note, draft, or bill of exchange bearing the indorsement of such member hank, with walver of demand notice and protest, the directors or executive committee of the federal reserve bank may, until Jan. 15, 1915, accept as evidence that the proceeds of such note, draft, or bill of exchange were or are to be used for agricultural, industrial, or commercial purposes (and that such notes, drafts, or bills of exchange in other respects comply with the regulations of the board) a written statement from the officer of the applying bank that of his own knowledge and belief the original loan was made for one of the purposes mentioned, and that the provisions of the act and regulations issued by the board have been compiled with.

Marshail Field & Co., in their weekly review of the dry goods trade, say:

"Dry goods business is still inactive pening the arrival of cooler weather. Helian, smods are moving more freely and there are some reports of excellent retail sales in his-day lines.
"Wool dress goods are in demand and prise of woolen fabrics are advancing, due to the inability of manufacturers to secure the far-foreign, wools. The cotton market has bean firmer during the week."

MARSHALL FIELD & COMPANY ANNEX--The Store for Men-

Not only the buying power of our great organization, but its creative ability and its educational force in transmitting patrons' ideas (and our own) to manufacturers explains, in part, the quality of this merchandise at the prices cited below.

Our Grill (exclusively for men) on the sixth floor offers the seclusion of a club (if desired) or the interest of a room well filled with men of affairs. But it also offers something more - good, wholesome, appetizing food well served.

House Coats and Robes of Silk, Velvet and Wool. The Kind a Man Likes.

An extensive showing of our newest and finest silk, velvet and wool Dressing Gowns and House Coats for Christmas. (Exclusive patterns and designs made by Virgoe Middleton and Lloyd Aintree Smith of London, England, and also of our domestic manufacturers.)

Dressing Gowns of fine pattern and colorings, in brocaded, mattlesse, and zonana silks-$40. 0 to $75.00 House Coats to match -$25.00 to $50.00.

Velvet Dressing Gowns, in both plain and brocaded designs, in many shades-$40.00 to $125.00.

Novelty Tucked Shirts, $2.50 each

This fabric is one of the finest domestic percales, patterns of the bolder type in Roman stripes, heavy color lines and combination color effects. These Shirts will appeal to men seeking the newest in fashion's decree.

Silk Cravats Ideal for Gifts.

Neckwear is always foremost among gift suggestions for men. No man will complain of receiving too many Ties, when the selections are made from the styles and patterns so extensively shown in ou displays. The silks in our Neckwear are all perso chosen from unbroken lines submitted first for our approval. In many instances they are exclusively confined to us. Prices range from 50c to $5.00.

Overcoats That Really Fit, $25.00

For Men and Young Men.

Especially snug where the collar touches the nape of the neck. Unusually trim at the waist.

Some show the Balmacaan effect -but carefully modeled and tailored to make the shoulder lines more firm.

Others are double breasted, with velvet collar and wide lapels-a smart Coat, as illustrated. A wide range of choice fabrics.

The conservative Chesterfield, the choice of thousands of men, is also strongly represented at this price.

A Holiday Suggestion:— A Pair or More of Gloves

Our lines of Men's Street Gloves are at present complete. We urge an early selection, as many of our fine grades of Gloves cannot be duplicated this season.
